

To whom it may concern,

I am writing this letter to recommend Alexander Robinson for the MCC Music scholarship.

My Name is John Levinsky and I am his music teacher and I have closely followed his academic progress the past two years.

When Alexander first entered my studio, he showed great promise. However, his determination and technical abilities have surpassed all of my expectations. Building on his natural talent, Michael came to each new class with renewed motivation and discipline, quickly mastering even the most demanding notes.

After dancing competitively for 7 years and securing high placement in several national-level championships, Michael became a dancing instructor at the studio. I've seen firsthand how selfless his teaching approach is. No matter how long it takes a student to master a routine, Alexander will patiently go through the steps with them, encouraging them not to give up.

Despite his achievements, Alexander is humble and takes any opportunity he can to learn from his peers.

He has made it his priority to give back as much as possible to the community, and his kindness and maturity make him a wonderful team player. I am grateful to have had the privilege of following along on Michael Wu's journey and believe this scholarship will help him further hone his craft and pursue his dreams.

As an educator who is committed to seeing my students succeed, I encourage you to consider Alexander for the music scholarship. Please do not hesitate to contact me with any questions you may have.

Kind Regards,

John Levinsky.
